PRODUCT SAFETY RECALL

Where to find the serial number

Orbea has already identified the specific serial numbers that could be potentially affected by this issue. Dealers and users can check by using this webpage and inserting the SN of the bike: <https://cloud.coms.orbea.com/avant>

INFORMATION ON WHERE, WHEN AND BY WHOM THE PRODUCT WAS SOLD, IF AVAILABLE

The list of products in Annex 2 reflects all dealers and countries where the bicycles potentially affected by this issue were distributed. Also, for the bicycles marked as registered we have and can use the data to reach end users when necessary.

WHY IS THIS PRODUCT DANGEROUS?

The defective part is the fork of the aforementioned models (internal part number 50310000). Such part was initially manufactured by our supplier in a single plant in China.

However, from the date 14/05/2025 onwards forks from a plant in Cambodia were received in Orbea in parallel to China plant supply. Even though the initial samples coming from this plant were tested and validated with positive results, Orbea detected that all mass production batches received from the plant in Cambodia are subject not to be compliant with ISO standard tests as follows:

ISO 4210-6 5.6.3 Fork for hub brake — Brake mount fatigue test and

ISO 4210-6 5.6.2 Fork for hub/disc brake — Static brake-torque test.

No complaint, claim or report has been received from the market as of today. The noncompliance has been detected internally only, during the performance of the IQC tests that are performed for mass production control as per Orbea's internal procedures. The facts and timeline leading to this report are listed below:

The fork of a bike comprises a vital structural element of a bike, that must be able to withstand the load of the rider and the disc brake systems as per the use of the bike during their lifespan. The breakage of the fork could lead to an accident with serious injuries as it is likely the rider falls off their bike.

The non-compliance above implies that the fork could crack in one of the following events:

- Fatigue after the rider has used their front brake a repeated number of times that could be below the lifespan of the bike

Spread the word about this recall, especially if you know that the recalled product was offered, lent or sold to someone else

PRODUCT SAFETY RECALL

- After the rider applies a force strong enough but below the required by said norm. A crack can occur in the fork of the bicycles assembled with hydraulic disc brakes if the front brake is abruptly blocked. It is believed the reason this crack can happen is the high compression pressure hydraulic disc brakes can transmit to a specific area of the fork with very high torque if abrupt front braking is performed. (It should be noted, however, that this kind of braking is not usual in common bike riding, because this kind of braking itself will create a hazard situation for the rider.)

It is important to note that we have not experienced a full breakage of the fork during the tests. However, if a crack appears and it is not detected by the rider, it could develop resulting in breakage.

WHAT TO DO?

Dealers are requested to work together with the aftersales team of Orbea to check your stock is not affected prior to sale. For that purpose you will receive a list of the affected bicycles or you can check in the webpage <https://cloud.coms.orbea.com/avant> if the serial number could be affected. After you have input the SN your will receive one of the following results:

- a. OK: bike is OK to sell and use
- b. NOOK: the bike must not be sold or ridden before the substitution of the fork. PLease submit a claim through KIDE to receive the part and labour costs.
- c. CHECK: the bike shall not be sold or ridden before checking as follows. Disassemble the steering and remove the fork. In the steering tube you will find a QR code together some digits:
  - If the first two digits are XJ and/or the bike is marked with “made in Cambodia” the fork is NOOK: the bike must not be sold or ridden before the substitution of the fork. PLease submit a claim through KIDE to receive the part and labour costs.
  - Otherwise the fork is OK: bike is OK to sell and use. PLease submit a claim through KIDE to receive labour costs.

Please notify any consumers to whom you sold the bicycles that they should refrain from using them until they can be repaired.

REMEDIES FOR CONSUMERS

has been requested by Orbea from the dealers. When that is provided for those consumers who did not register their bike, each consumer identified will receive the same communication.

For those users whose bike is not registered they can check in the webpage <https://cloud.coms.orbea.com/avant> if the serial number could be affected. In that webpage they will find instructions on how to proceed depending on the case.

In no case the actions taken will involve a cost for the end consumer.
